Chapter 1 by Lilly

When your outside at night all by yourself and the wind starts to blow and the wolfs start to howl, run. Keep running until you fall then get up and keep running. Things weren't always this way. I heard stories that a long time ago we lived peacefully with the humans, and nature didn't constantly try to kill them. My name is Scarlet, but my friend call me stormy. Or they would if i had friends. I've always wondered what it would be like to meet a human and when I did my life took a turn for the worst. Before i start the story you might want to know something. I'm a faery, well half faery. Not the kind that your thinking. I'm not like tinkerbelle. I don't have wings or pixie dust, that's just a fairy tale. Oh and the year is 2073.

Chapter 2 by TraderVic12

As the tale goes, it all started with the moon. A single shard of moonlight fell to the ground and from it, a magical tree grew up and from that tree the most amazing, shimmering silver fruit fell to the ground. These had the magical power of song - whoever ate them had the most beautiful voice, almost enchanting. For days the songs of those who ate the magical fruit poured happiness into the hearts of the folk around, but then, one after another they stopped their song. Their voice was still sweet and beguiling, but their skin became silvery and their eyes carried the same shimmer as the moon. When that were once so happy to listen now ran in fear and called the singing folk monsters and the silvery shimmer became the devil's eye in their minds. For centuries in the dark corners of the world. My folk told me it was a time of peace. At least that's the tale. I guess it's as good of a truth as any.

Anyway - then came airplanes, radars, infrared sensors and GPS, and the dark corners of the world were no more. We had to meet humanity again, and we did, with hope in our hearts.
